

CADORNA SUFFERS ANOTHER DEFEAT

MALIGNERS TO BE PUNISHED SAYS HOOVER

Sends Wire to Dr. Ladd Relative to Opposition in North Dakota

ASSURD REPORTS ARE BEING CIRCULATED

Government Does Not Intend to Confiscate any Household Stores

Dr. E. F. Ladd, federal food administrator for North Dakota, received the following telegram last evening: "Reports reach us from your state and some others of an insidious propaganda against the food pledge, among them their circulation of reports that the government would confiscate the household food of all who signed the pledge."

"The absurdity and wickedness of such statements is obvious and, aside from the fact that the government has no intention of doing anything of the kind, it has no power to do so in law."

"The attention of the prosecuting authorities is being called to the persons circulating these reports."

"HERBERT HOOVER."

"This statement by Mr. Hoover should be given the widest publicity throughout North Dakota," said Dr. Ladd today, who is in Bismarck attending a regents' meeting.

Mr. Hoover's telegram speaks for itself. There is another report coming from sections of North Dakota to the effect that some people are declining to sign the food pledge cards, saying that they are already saving food and therefore it is not necessary for them to sign a food pledge.

"Any person who makes this statement has misused the whole purpose and object of the 'Food Pledge' campaign."

"The United States wants to find out if the people of the nation will voluntarily cooperate in saving food. If they will not cooperate voluntarily then more drastic action will have to be taken."

"The government has asked the cooperation of the people in conserving food. It must be conserved. How is the government going to know that the people will cooperate unless they sign the food pledge cards?"

"There are a very large number of people who are already doing their utmost to conserve food in their homes."

"If these all refuse to sign the pledge card because they think it unnecessary they may defeat the very purpose of the whole campaign."

"Again, the government is doing its utmost to cooperate with all who are conserving food, or who will agree to do so. The government has gone to great expense to find healthful and practical substitutes for those highly concentrated foods which take up the least shipping space and are therefore needed for shipment to Europe."

"The government wants the names of all who will cooperate so that it may furnish this information to them."

SUGAR DENIED NORWAY SOLD TO UNCLE SAM

Washington, Nov. 1.—The Norwegian government, denied permission to export a large amount of sugar purchased here, has turned it over to the food administration for distribution to dealers. The sugar was sold to the government at actual cost, which is considerably less than the present market value. The food administration in announcing the action of the Norwegian government did not make public the amount involved.

ALLIES OWE THIS NATION FOUR BILLION

Washington, Nov. 1.—A credit of $435,000,000 was made to Great Britain today by the treasury to cover British expenditures in this country up to Jan. 1, 1918. This brings the total loans to Great Britain to $1,860,000,000, and total loans to the allies of $3,565,000,000.

The credit today is the largest ever made to an allied government. The money will be withdrawn from the treasury only as needed to pay for war contracts.

S. D. FUEL ADMINISTRATOR. Washington, Nov. 1.—The fuel administration today appointed W. C. Bickelaupt of Aberdeen to be the fuel administrator for South Dakota.

President George A. McFarland of Valley City Normal Says Educator Progresses

CONVENTION SWINGS INTO STRIDE WITH SECOND DAY

Attendance as Large as Usual for Gatherings of Association—Kroeze Talk Gem

That Ichabod Crane and the Irish school master of 60 and 70 years ago have too long been used as a composite picture of the man in modern school affairs, but that we have now come upon more stirring days in the educational profession, was the assertion of President George A. McFarland of the Valley City State Normal school in his address, "The Teacher as a Person of Affairs," before the higher and professional education section of the N. D. E. A. this afternoon.

"It ought to be said," the speaker stated, "that the professor is largely what the public has made of him. If American democracy had been quite willing to allow those to lead who ought to lead, the teaching profession would soon give an exhibition of surprising activity. And, the fact is that things are being accomplished; progress is being made."

"Community Music" was the subject of Miss Fanny C. Amidon of the department of public school music at the State Normal school at Valley City, in an address before the elementary education section this afternoon. Miss Amidon discussed at some length the origin of community music, and its meaning. She borrowed Lincoln's well known phrase that purely and simply, community music is "for the people, of the people, and by the people."

What is now being done in all parts of the United States for community music, as outlined by Miss Amidon, showed that there is a great movement sweeping over every state, fostered and augmented by these stirring times.

In conclusion, Miss Amidon considered the great educational value and democratizing influences of community music and the great possibilities of the whole movement in North Dakota.

Session in Full Swing.

With the second day's sessions well under way, the annual convention of the North Dakota Education association now is in full swing. Educators are here from every section of the state. If the convention lacks anything in quantity, it certainly makes it up in quality, for the earnest, sincere men and women of North Dakota who have really made the schools what they are—not the educational politicians or the political educators, but those whose life work is teaching and the betterment of the schools—are here in force.

Everyone is thoroughly well pleased with the program; with the arrangements made by local committees, with the meeting places selected, the entertainment provided, and, most of all, the weather. O. W. Roberts is undoubtedly the most popular man in North Dakota today. After showing us how beastly fall weather could be, he drew out of a pigeon-hole this little slice of ideal Indian summer, which he had stored away for this special occasion, and he is giving North Dakota's educators clear skies, radiant sun and balmy breezes to add to the success of their annual gathering.

Kroeze Talk Gem. One of the real gems of the convention to date was the response given yesterday afternoon by President B. H. Kroeze of Jamestown college to the governor's address of welcome. Owing to the overwelcoming modesty of this educational executive, The Tribune was denied the privilege yesterday.

PETITIONS DEMAND THAT GRONNA GIVE UP SENATE BERTH

National American Association insists that Pacifist Cease to Misrepresent State

Velva, N. D., Nov. 1.—Petitions have been circulated simultaneously in scores of North Dakota towns and villages demanding that Senator A. J. Gronna resign, reports O. J. Kauffman, general secretary of the National North American association, which he declares perhaps the most formidable panoptic fraternity in the United States. The petition which has been prepared and is being circulated by this association reads:

"To A. J. Gronna, Washington, D. C.: "Whereas you have opposed in the United States senate the adoption of the war conscription law, and the adoption of other measures necessary for the successful prosecution of the war, and have stated that you would work for the repeal of the said conscription act;

"And whereas these acts of yours do not represent the will of the people of the state of North Dakota and have brought great shame and humiliation upon citizens of North Dakota; we the undersigned citizens of North Dakota hereby demand that you resign your seat in the United States senate."

The National American association is doing its utmost to teach and promote patriotism, discourage secession, expose treason, destroy anarchy, and unite in a fraternal fellowship the patriotic men of our country. Its headquarters are at Velva, with Thomas T. Hiner as president. The organization is said to be growing rapidly, and it may be a potent factor in the politics of North Dakota at the next election, when it will attempt to support only patriotic men for public office regardless of their party affiliations.

STILL BUYS $250 WORTH. Mr. H. P. Goddard, chairman of the Burleigh county liberty loan committee, today received subscriptions of $250 from Still. This is the only point which did not report any sales until yesterday. Those buying bonds are A. Anderson, Charles P. Strom, William Levee and H. C. Richardson.

28,000 ALIENS IN NEW YORK BEING WATCHED

List of Foreigners Placed in Hands of Precinct Police as Precautionary Move

NO WATERFRONT DISASTER; FEW SPORADIC PLOTS

1,000 Workmen Under New Rule Compelled to Give up their Jobs

New York, Nov. 1.—Federal authorities conferred here today over arrangements to undertake a far-reaching surveillance of 28,000 enemy aliens within the barred zones of Manhattan and Bronx boroughs. A list of these aliens has been sent to every police precinct. Policemen will be expected to watch every alien's movement, and report suspicious acts for investigation.

United States Marshal McCarthy explained yesterday that the measures taken so far have been merely precautionary. No disaster has occurred within the water front region under his jurisdiction, he said, and the few sporadic plots that have been formed, have been "nipped."

In Brooklyn, Kennedy, who had been extended to enemy aliens has been brought to an end, owing to the number of suspicious and disastrous fires along the water front recently. More than 1,000 aliens who have been employed within the half mile barred zone have been obliged to give up their positions. Today they must send others for their tools and personal belongings, for their appearance in the zone will mean their arrest and internment. Two arrests were made yesterday.

Likely Names Should Prove Up in Trench

Sioux Nomenclature Prophetic of Disaster for Fritz When Redskins go Over

Fort Yates, N. D., Nov. 1.—Edmund Manyoceds, George Manyoceds, Charles Thunderhawk, Joe Pretendegle, Chaska Streakedeye and Peter Stretcheshimself, all full-blood Sioux, are some of the likely candidates for Uncle Sam's national army when the Sioux county district board began examining today. A new call was made necessary because of the large number of drafted men exempted and discharged by the district board of Bismarck. The county, after examining several classes, still is short five men to make up its net quota of 37 men, plus ten per cent. Joshua Callousley, one of the Sioux candidates, is the cause for the state's need. Captain Erickson's gridiron warriors will remain idle Saturday but next Monday afternoon will play the fast Valley City Normal school eleven on Allen field here.

CONCORDIA CANCELS Will Not Meet Jamestown High on Local Grid Saturday

Jamestown, N. D., Nov. 1.—Concordia college has cancelled its football game with Jamestown college, scheduled to be played here next Saturday, according to an announcement today. Captain Erickson's gridiron warriors will remain idle Saturday but next Monday afternoon will play the fast Valley City Normal school eleven on Allen field here.

BISMARCK TRIBUNE TO ISSUE MORNING AND EVENING EDITION

Commencing Tuesday morning, November 6th, the Bismarck Tribune, North Dakota's pioneer newspaper, will begin the issuing of both morning and evening editions. The demands have been so great upon the Tribune management, and the requests so frequent for more and still later news than could possibly be furnished through its Associated Press afternoon wire service, the editorial department finally deemed it advisable to contract for the Associated Press, morning leased wire service, carrying the same and as complete news as any morning paper in the Twin Cities—full market and financial reports will be one of the features of the morning edition, as well as the latest news all over the world. Your boy may soon be on the firing line in France and you will want to follow him through a 24-hour service newspaper. Watch for the first morning edition on the streets Tuesday morning, November 6th.

TRANSPORT HIT BY SUBMARINE REACHES PORT

United States Craft Able to Return to Foreign Haven After Being Attacked

FINLAND IS ONE OF LARGEST FLYING U. S. FLAG

Formerly in Service of Red Star Line Between New York and Europe

Washington, Nov. 1.—The transport Finland, was recently torpedoed, while returning to the United States, but was able to return to a foreign port under her own steam.

The navy department received a report of the attack and Secretary Daniels authorized its publication. The navy report does not say whether there was any loss of life or injury on the Finland.

This official announcement was authorized: "The navy department has received dispatches stating that the transport Finland was torpedoed while returning from foreign waters. The damage to the ship was slight and she returned to port under her own steam. The Finland was under escort, but no signs of the torpedo or the submarine were seen."

The Finland is one of the largest steamers flying the American flag. Before going into the army transport service, she plied between New York and European ports, in the international Mercantile Marine company's service under the Red Star and other lines. The vessel has a gross tonnage of 12,800, and a net tonnage of 7,711. She normally carries a crew of 277 men. The Finland was built in Philadelphia in 1912, but her home port is New York.

MEANS INDICTED FOR MURDER

Concord, N. H., Nov. 1.—Gaston Means was indicted today by the grand jury for the murder of Mrs. A. A. King, a wealthy widow here last August.

Means was arraigned, but the state asked the court for change of venue and the court adjourned until 2:30.

NORTH DAKOTA BOYS AT CAMP DODGE ANXIOUS TO GET INTO ROW OVER SEA

Jamestown, N. D., Nov. 1.—That the North Dakota boys now at Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Ia., are anxious to get into active service on the French front is the statement of Carl Lee, member of battery B, 38th field artillery, home on a 10-day furlough to attend to business matters. Mr. Lee was one of the first men to be drafted from Stutsman county, and states the life of an artilleryman is the best in the service.

"The boys are rapidly gaining knowledge of modern warfare, and now desire to take a trip across the pond and get a crack at the Kaiser's men," says Mr. Lee. "If we are fortunate enough to get into active service in the near future the North Dakota soldiers can be depended upon to give an excellent account of themselves."

MINERS IDLE.

Pittsburg, Kan., Nov. 1.—Twenty-one mines are idle today because of a strike of the miners, which is said to be due to the fuel administration's objection to the agreement of the miners and operators, reached at a Kansas City meeting recently.

Embargo on Cattle off in A Pinch

Exception Where Shipper Can Show Failure to Move Cattle Would Result in Starvation

GREAT NORTHERN HEAD ADVISES RAIL BOARD

The railroad commission today received assurance from W. P. Kenney, vice-president of the Great Northern railway, that the embargo against cattle shipments from North Dakota will be lifted in the case of any livestock shipper who can show that failure to provide shipping facilities would cause cattle to starve.

The action is the result of complaints from cattlemen in the northwestern part of the state that the livestock growers, coupled with the feed shortage, endangered lives of cattle and heavy losses to breeders. Mr. Kenney told the railroad commission the embargo had been established at the institution of the federal food administration and he indicated it would last at least two weeks and probably longer.

RED CROSS FOLKS PROMPT PAY AND CHEERFUL GIVERS

Practically all of Subscriptions in Burleigh County Collected or Coming in

ANETA MAKES RECORD; GUNDERSON IS PROUD

More than ten per cent of Burleigh county's people, 1,825 out of a population of about 15,000, are subscribers to the Red Cross, L. C. Marks, chairman of the Burleigh county chapter, shows in a formal report filed with the state headquarters at Fargo today. These 1,825 subscribers pledged $32,698.32, or an average of $20 per capita, in the whirlwind campaign, staged during the last summer, and pledged totaling $27,336.77 have been paid. Of the $4,671.75 remaining unpaid, a considerable amount consists of pledges from farmers who agreed to pay about November 1, and who have not yet had time to remit.

Every dollar as soon as paid in is deposited in a United States depository to the credit of the war relief fund of the American Red Cross, William G. McAdoo, treasurer. A final report will be made about November 28, when it is expected that all of the subscriptions will have been collected and that a detailed accounting will be made. During the campaign all money collected have been audited by a special committee, and the campaign envelope and duplicate receipts have been mailed to the national headquarters at Washington.

"The executive committee is more than gratified over the admirable way in which the people have cheerfully paid their subscriptions after the head of the campaign had worn away. There have been no slackers. Every one has paid his subscription cheerfully and promptly," said Chairman Marks today.

Good For Aneta. "In the town of Aneta, with 670 people, and its immediate community we have 565 members of the American Red Cross and we subscribed $1,100. In addition we have shipped out two large boxes of knitted wear and are working on more supplies," reported former Senator J. C. Gunderson of Aneta, who is here attending the North Dakota Education association convention, addressing the school administrative division today.

"There isn't a single slacker in Aneta," continued the statesman. "In the second Liberty loan campaign, I personally sold $28,000 worth of United States bonds, and a total of $200,000 was sold in Aneta. I do not believe any town of 670 can duplicate this record."

DAIRYMEN STRIKE AT ELGIN, ILL.

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 1.—A strike of dairymen of this district against lower prices offered by Chicago distributors, milk effective today is in effect. All milk was delivered at the various containing station this morning. In neighboring districts, it was said the farmers were delivering from fifty to seventy five per cent of normal quantities. A spokesman for the dairymen meeting said that not more than 20 per cent of the normal supply in the entire Chicago district was being delivered. The district includes northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, northwestern Indiana, and western Michigan.

ITALIANS WITH UNITS INTACT FACE ENEMY

Perfectly Re-organized Army Prepares to Stem Rush of Teuton-Austro Forces

ALL BRITISH GUNS READY FOR ACTION

Air Raid Made Over London Last Night Inflicts Only Slight Damage

ANOTHER DEFEAT. General Cadorna's forces, retreating to the line of the Tagliamento river, have suffered another crushing defeat.

Berlin today reports the capture of two bridgehead positions from Italian troops, which made a stand east of the middle Tagliamento and cutting off of an Italian force, which was retreating toward the lower course of the river. In the latter operation, 60,000 Italians were captured, according to the German claim, bringing the total prisoners taken to 180,000 and the number of guns to 1,500.

TAKE 180,000 PRISONERS.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Austro-German forces invading Italy have increased the number of prisoners taken to more than 180,000. They have captured 1,500 Italian guns. The foregoing information was officially announced today by the German war office.

The German statement says the Teuton fourteenth army yesterday gained another great victory. Portions of the Italian retreat line made a stand at the Tagliamento river. The bridgehead positions at Dignano and Codroipo were captured by the Germans.

The Austro-Germans penetrated the rear guard positions of the Italians to the east of the lower Tagliamento, where they cut off and captured 60,000 Italians.

(By Associated Press.)

All the British guns with the Italian army were saved, according to a British correspondent at Italian headquarters, who says that the spirits of the British gunners are good. Lack of transports, which would not be allotted to them was their whole trouble. The correspondent, who accompanied the retreat of the third Italian army from the Carso, in a dispatch dated Tuesday, says the troops were cheerful and that firmness of command could reorganize them into a fighting force. The duke of Aosta, commander of the third army, was calm, and confident Monday night as his army had saved nearly all of its guns.

The Italian general staff, the writer says, naturally has placed a ban on all descriptions of what happened during the last few days, but has permitted the sending of a description of the destruction of Italian stores.

Vivid Flare.

"The sky was constantly springing into a vivid flare like an instantaneous sunset, followed by deep, grumbling roars. Ammunition dumps were blown up and bridges destroyed. The glare of explosives gave light of ghastly brilliance over the throngs of the retreating army."

Lasts Three Hours.

"A rainstorm which lasted three hours added to the hardships, already severe enough, and must have meant death to many of those wounded while covering the retreat. But it delayed the enemy's advance by swelling the rivers, softening the ground, and making air reconnaissance and bombing raids on congested roads and railways impossible."

"Such are the outlines of the story of which full details are not permitted."

"The situation undoubtedly is grave, but the silence which the interest of the army now impose must not be construed as an indication that things are worse than they actually are. The glow has been severe, but it will not crush Italy."

General Cadorna's retirement before the invading Austro-Germans is slackening and the opposing forces are at grips at several points between Udine and the Tagliamento, where the Italians will probably make their first determined stand. The German effort to outflank the Tagliamento line from the Carnic Alps apparently is not gaining ground fast.

While the Germans over-powered and dispersed the Italian forces across the Isonzo, north of Gorizia, General Cadorna, according to advice from his headquarters, saved his other armies virtually intact, and the third army, which guarded the arso succeeded in getting away in its entirety with its guns and war material. The Italian defeat did not become a rout, and General Cadorna's strategy was to withdraw his troops from the Isonzo and across the Friuli plains, to a position from which to make strong counter attacks.

Near Tagliamento.

The invading forces are within four miles of the Tagliamento, northwest of Udine, after having captured 100,000 men.

LITTLE OLD RED SCHOOL HOUSES TO THE DISCARD

Fine in Fancy, Poor in Fact.
Without Proper Place in Modern Education

LIVE AND PRACTICAL SYSTEM NEED OF DAY

President J. G. Gunderson of School Administration Section for Consolidation

The little red school house has served its time, J. G. Gunderson of Aneta, president of the school administration division of the North Dakota Education association, informed his hearers this afternoon in his annual address.

"Most of us now agree that a live and practical system of public schools is necessary for the full development of a vigorous and prosperous nation and state," said President Gunderson. "To bring about this condition in our schools we must have unification and co-operation of the administrative and teaching forces of the state and the financial aid of the taxing units. The four little red school houses, one located in each corner of the township, have served their usefulness and we are entering the era of consolidated rural schools. The consolidated school provides better and more modern buildings; better teachers, because of more favorable social conditions existing in such schools. It gives the country boys and girls more of the advantages that village and city pupils have.

Will Board Students.
"The objection that now prevails against transporting children during cold weather I believe will be overcome eventually by providing housing and boarding accommodations at the school center for children living at great distances. The home will not be disturbed. It will not be necessary for the pupil to sever home ties to get a public school education."

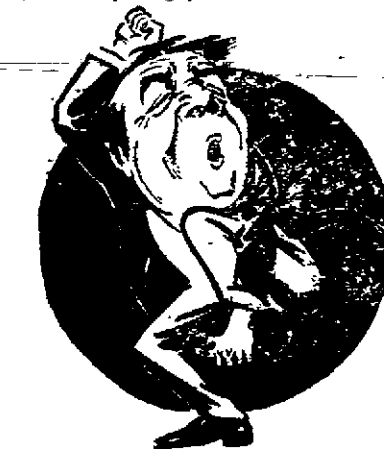

President Gunderson recommends the establishment of evening schools; commends medical inspection and the establishment of a school nurse in every county, and urges that some teacher in every school make it her special duty to teach the girls those things they should know and to see that they are properly chaperoned at social functions. "There seems to be too much laxity in the moral protection of our young people. Morals should be a subject in all our schools."

Effect of War.
Touching on the effect of war on the public schools, President Gunderson said: "We cannot afford to have the work of our schools weakened, but how are we going to prevent it? It has already become evident that there is to be a shortage of teachers."

CORN PAIN STOPPED QUICK

Corns Lift Right Off with "Gets-It." Blessed relief from corn pains is simple as A B C with "Gets-It."

When you've been limping around for days trying to get away from a heart-drilling corn or burny callus, and everything you've tried has only made it worse, and then you put some "Gets-It" on and the pain ceases right off like a banana skin—'ain't it a grand and heavenly feeling?"

"Gets-It" has revolutionized the corn history of the world. Millions use it and it never fails. Ladies wear smaller shoes and have pain-free feet. We old fellows and young fellows forget our toes and feel frisky as colts. Everybody with a corn or callus needs "Gets-It." We will all walk about and enjoy ourselves as we did without corns. Get a bottle today from your druggist, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago Ill. $5c is all you need to pay.

Sold in Bismarck and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Bismarck's Drug Store.

To keep a full quota of qualified teachers under existing circumstances may become impossible, and if we do not place proper safeguards against this, we may have to compromise our schooling efficiencies, to the detriment of our children and the public.

"Our national congress recognized the importance of our public schools in this state by donating one-eighth of the land area within our borders for their support, besides setting apart a liberal grant to our higher educational institutions. Good moral and highly trained intellectual people will insure a country of high moral standards and high intellectual development. How about the public schools of our state? Are they as good as they should be? Are they as good as they might be under conditions existing? Are they as practical and progressive as they should be? Are we as school officers doing our duty to solve these problems? These are questions that we may well ask ourselves."

"Our official position makes us to some extent the custodians of the children's future welfare, and, so, keepers of the future of the state. We should endeavor to execute our trust faithfully and intelligently."

President Gunderson closed with the hope that some means might be devised of assuring the attendance of at least one representative of every school in the state at these popular annual assemblies, which open the way for closer relations and better co-operation between school officers and teachers.

WOULD SPEAK MORE, WRITE LESS ENGLISH

Miss Leona V. Smith of Grand Forks High School Advocates Teaching Talking

GOOD CITIZENSHIP IN REPUBLIC DEMANDS IT

Boys and Girls Ill at Ease on Feet

—Can't say What they Would, as they Would

"So far as I have been able to discover, it is the first time that this one of the English sisters has appeared thus before us in long dresses and as a real 'eligible,'" said Miss Leona V. Smith, instructor in the Grand Forks high school this afternoon, in a witty introduction to her interesting address on "Public Speaking in the High School," delivered before the section on secondary education, meeting at the high school auditorium.

Miss Smith, a graduate of Northwestern university, at Evanston, has some new ideas as to the teaching of English, and she embodied these in a helpful and inspiring discussion of the various phases of public speaking as a high school course.

Nothing New.
"Is this idea of more use of mother tongue—not 'mother pen and paper'—as a means for broader education a new one? You know it is not. The first rhetoric was all oral. Somehow, though, we have gotten away from it. For a half century we have been educating the eye and the hand, and the stronger ear and tongue have not been trained. The gift of speech has not been appreciated."

"The schools more and more are asking the colleges that all their English teachers be able to read sympathetically and speak effectively. It is the schools that are asking that their graduates be imbued with a deep and abiding love for good literature as a study of life and to realize that this life is written in a living and not a dead language. Goethe says 'A world dies in the pen.' The only hope for it is that it be recreated."

Can't Talk with Ease.
"Miss Brock of California, speaking before the national council of teachers of English in Chicago in 1913, said: 'In an age in which effective speech is more and more essential, I found most boys and girls talking with little ease, clearness or force.' Miss Camburn of the English department in the high school at Mt. Clemens, Mich., said: 'Since we are training for citizenship in a republic where the question of effective speaking must always be vital, I regard work of this kind as the English teacher's greatest opportunity to satisfy the modern demand for practicality. I turn my back on the possibility of training a star or two to go forth and win laurels and put my energy in drilling in plain, simple speaking, which the man of tomorrow will need more than the rules for the use of the comma.'"

"Not only the schools, but the parents themselves are asking directly that their children may learn how to talk effectively. I remember one father in particular who came to me and said: 'You teach speaking, don't you? Well, I hope you'll get hold of that boy of mine. I never had much along that line myself, and by George! I'd give a lot of money if, when he grows up, he will be able to get up and say what he wants to and sit down to and then shut up and sit down.'"

Smith told of the attention which universities and colleges are devoting to training teachers of this important art, and of what she is doing at Grand Forks through oral composition, interpretation, debate and current events, in which more than 300 are enrolled. In conclusion, she said: "Wide-awake teachers of foreign languages are using the direct method of teaching—why not the teachers of the English language? North Dakota, the home of many who speak another tongue, easily needs and wants training in the common tongue. The Circle of the English sisters, the accomplished and promising sister, 'Public Speaking in the High School,' awaits your decision. Will you at least court her, possibly adopt her, and if you can, present the slipper, be the prince, and take her all in all?"

TEACHERS OF AGRICULTURE RURAL-MINDED

Must Maintain Professional Attitude at Almost Any Cost and Know Job

SHOULD HAVE INTEREST AND SYMPATHY IN FARM

Study so Broad in its Scope that it Should be Taught as Separate Branch

"The teacher of agriculture must maintain his professional attitude at almost any cost. His experience must be of a kind that will contribute directly to his teaching. He should be either farm-bred or else have acquired the necessary farm experience in some other acceptable way. He should have an interest in and a sympathy for farm life. He should be rural minded."

So said Prof. J. H. Seymour, director of the department of agriculture at the State Normal school at Valley City in his address on "The Proper Way to Teach Agriculture" before the teachers and officers of agricultural schools this morning. Mr. Seymour maintained that no teacher of any subject has greater opportunity than the teacher of agriculture to maintain a high standard of professional interest which is always up to date. New methods, new and better ways of doing things, the latest results of investigation are continually being poured forth for the asking from the United States department of agriculture and from the various state experiment stations. He should have the fine sense of the fitness of things and the judgment and common sense to distinguish between what is essential and non-essential.

Not a Side Issue.

"Agriculture is so broad in its scope that it should be taught as a separate branch of study and because of its intrinsic worth. It should not be taught as an adjunct to one or another of the biological sciences. As a matter of fact the biological sciences are but aspects of agriculture when the term is thought of in its broadest sense. This is not saying too much, especially in states like North Dakota, where the basis of all industry is agriculture. If botany, zoology and physical geography in our secondary schools were taught in such a way as to emphasize their relation at every point to the science of agriculture we should discover that the teaching of these subjects would take on new meaning, that the instruction had become vitalized."

"All rural, elementary and secondary agriculture should be taught with the thought of the march of the seasons. There is a best time to study plant life, a best time to study the principles and practice of seed corn selection, a best time to study soils."

Laboratory Work.

"In rural and elementary schools laboratory work may profitably take the form of simple experiments or exercises. In secondary schools the exercises are more intensive and should be completed with mathematical exactness and skill. Sometimes this kind of work or teaching is done when all are on foot on a field trip. It requires considerable skill on the part of the teacher to conduct such trips so that their value may not be discounted. The teacher should know what he wants to make use of and how he is going about it."

"All of the sciences may be taught only for themselves, but in a great agricultural state like this, where agriculture is paramount, it is necessary that agricultural applications should be made wherever possible. For example many of our common food plants can be as well used as wild flowers which have no economic importance. There are untold possibilities in correlating in the work given in our rural schools. I believe that the future will reveal just how meager our efforts have been in this respect."

Gardens should be a part of the work in agriculture in the elementary schools if at all possible. Gardening develops thrift and industry, aids in solving the child labor problem, promotes health, provides wholesome recreation, it maintains better moral conditions, it fosters contentment and unites home and school.

Boys' and Girls' Club.

"Boys' and girls' club work is very practical and beneficial and a valuable instrument in the hands of teachers of maturity and wisdom. They have distinct educational and social value. A peculiar advantage is enjoyed by the rural consolidated school which is large enough to dominate the educational affairs of a township. Under

NEW CHEMISTRY HALL AT UNIVERSITY WILL BE BISMARCK DESIGN

Capital City Architect Engaged by Board of Regents for $90,000 Structure

The new chemistry hall at the University of North Dakota, a building which will cost $90,000, will be designed in the Capital City, a Bismarck architect, Frederick W. Keith, having yesterday been awarded the contract by the state board of regents. A Minneapolis firm of architects, which recently designed and supervised the construction for a new chemistry building at the University of Minnesota, has been employed in a consulting capacity.

Report on Presidency.
A report of the committee, headed by Dean French, selected some time ago to nominate a new head of the university, to succeed Dr. F. L. McVey, began its report before the board of regents at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The committee out of 60 names which it originally had under consideration, has eliminated all but 10, and these were reported this afternoon without recommendation. It is regarded as probable that the board will take no action on any of these names, but will give the committee more time with a view to a more definite choice.

Institution Heads.
President Smith of Bottineau, President Black of Ellendale and Mrs. M. C. Budlong, secretary of the North Dakota public library commission, appeared before the board of regents this morning, and President Smith of Wahpeton had a hearing this afternoon. Up to this time the board has taken up nothing but routine institutional matters, and complete harmony has prevailed.

Fewer Students; More Study.
Fewer students of both sexes, but more study, is the rule at North Dakota higher institutions of learning as a result of the war, report the several institution heads who have met with the state board of regents this week.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 50c per box. At druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

The war has materially decreased attendance, both as to young men and young women; but the war has created a more serious viewpoint which has resulted in much better work being done.

CONSERVATION SUCCESS

Gladstone Hotel at Jamestown Tries Meatless-Wheatless Menus
Jamestown, N. D., Nov. 1.—Meatless and wheatless days have been given a trial in the Gladstone hotel here and have proved to be a great success. C. A. Klaus, proprietor of the hotel and president of the North Dakota Hotel Men's association, is a booster for food conservation and has enlisted local restaurants and other eating places in the work. Tuesday will be meatless and Wednesday wheatless days at the Gladstone in the future.

A nationwide campaign to complete the enrollment of our forces in conservation of our food supply, is a duty of necessity, humanity and honor. As a free people we have elected to discharge this duty, not under autocratic decree, but without other restraint than the guidance of individual conscience.

TOO MANY COOKS MAY SPOIL BROTH FOR MAGIC CITY

Entrance of Jamestown and Devils Lake as Contenders for Convention Splits Vote

RACE FOR PRESIDENCY

STILL BETWEEN THREE

This afternoon, on the eve of the general business session of the N. D. E. A., at which the next meeting place of this big organization will be selected, it begins to look as though too many cooks might spoil the broth for Minot, which early in the session seemed to have a good chance to win the 1918 convention from Grand Forks.

Both Jamestown and Devils Lake entered the lists today as contenders for the honor, which has lain between Grand Forks and Minot. Neither Jamestown nor Devils Lake, it is predicted, will land the honor, but each will draw enough support from Minot to boost Grand Forks chances. It is contended that the Red River valley, as usual, will stand solid for a convention in its own territory, while central and western North Dakota will divide their support between Minot, Devils Lake and Jamestown.

Three years ago, in Bismarck, Devils Lake bid for the convention, and it very nearly got away with it, losing to Grand Forks by a very slight margin. All of the towns named, except Grand Forks, are handicapped by the lack of hotel facilities, and in some instances adequate convention halls are lacking.

Race for President

The race for the presidency still seems to be between White of Williston, Black of Ellendale and McMullen of Valley City. Black's friends have gone into the game with a vim, and Black literature is in general circulation. Friends of McMullen and White are working quietly, and the effectiveness of their campaign will not be evident until the balloting begins tomorrow morning.

Talks to Minotors

Chairman Lewis F. Crawford addressed Minot normal school alumni at the Grand Pacific at noon. Dr. E. F. Ladd of the agricultural college and Dean E. J. Babcock, acting president of the university, held informal court during the noon hour at the McKenzie, where hundreds of alumni greeted their former instructors. Dr. Babcock most recently denied the rumor that he may be made permanent head of the university. He believes there is nothing to the report, and that no election will be made by the regents today.

MIDNIGHT FIRE BURNS HORSES AND DESTROYS LARGE BARN; BIG LOSS

A stubborn fire which broke out shortly before midnight last night in the large barn at the foot of Fifth street, south of the tracks, cremated three horses owned by Eric Sundquist and completely destroyed the structure, which was owned by Ira W. Griffin. A loss of several thousand dollars above all insurance resulted. The barn itself was protected to the extent of $3,000. It contained a considerable quantity of hay and grain, which was lost, and the three horses were heavy draft animals, probably worth $1,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The barn was enveloped in flames when an alarm was turned in, and the fire department on its arrival found a hard task confronting it. The firemen fought stubbornly until 3 o'clock this morning before the last spark was extinguished. By unusually good work, Chief Currier's men saved the old Methodist Episcopal church building, which had been moved onto a lot adjoining the barn.

prisoners and more than 1,000 guns. This is the center of the advancing line and the southern wings probably are not as near the Tagliamento.

Should General Cadorna have to retire because of the breaking of the Italian defenses in the Carnic Alps and before assistance arrives, he will have the "Blava" river, which runs southwest and south from Belluno, on which to stand.

Reinforcements are being hurried to northern Italy not only by France and Great Britain, but also by Italy. The German advance apparently is not as strong as at first thought, and Berlin is less enthusiastic in its war bulletins.

If the German government counted on internal disorder in Italy helping to open the way to Lombardy, it has been disappointed. All indications point to a strengthening of Italian national feeling.

The French, in their successful offensive north of Laon last week, captured 12,157 prisoners, including 237

Count von Hertling has not accepted pending conferences with reichstag leaders. Reports from Germany via Amsterdam and Copenhagen indicate that the Bavarian premier will have difficulty in getting even a working majority in the reichstag, where various leaders are much opposed to him. His attitude toward parliamentary reform and the reichstag peace resolution is said to complicate his position.

HOLDING BACK ENEMY.

Italian Headquarters, Wednesday, Oct. 31.—As the bulletins of General Cadorna indicate, the Italian troops, perfectly reorganized, are holding back the enemy seven miles west of Udine.

The Germans and Austrians did not succeed in their plan of rushing beyond the Isonzo into the Friuli valley and enveloping the third Italian army, which occupied the region of Gorizia and the Carso. Although they broke the Italian line from Pelizzo to Tolmino, the resistance offered by picked Italian contingents who offered themselves for the supreme sacrifice, so delayed the southwestern march of the enemy that the third army had time to cross the middle and southern Isonzo in orderly retreat.

The main body of Italian forces is intact, ready to face the invaders in the counter offensive which is being prepared.

Italian cavalry has entered into action on a large scale for the first time since the beginning of the war. They have obstructed the advance of the enemy.

LONDON AIR RAID.

London, Nov. 1.—About 30 airplanes in seven groups took part in last night's air raid. Three of them penetrated the heart of London, says an official report today. The casualties and damage were slight.

The first group of air raiders dropped bombs near the coast. Two more groups were broken up by a barrage on the southeastern outskirts of the metropolis. The fourth group was turned back up the Thames, half way to London.

Of the fifth group, one or more airplanes penetrated southeastern London. Some of the sixth group reached the southeastern part of the city.

The seventh group was dispersed before it reached the city.

Eight persons were killed, and 21 others were injured in the German air raid last night, according to an official statement issued today by the British war department.

Lord French's statement says: "Latest police reports state that the total casualties caused in last night's air raid in all districts were: 'Killed, eight; injured, 21. 'The material damage done was very slight, and no injury was done to any naval, military or munitions establishments. All of our machines returned safely.'"

CARE OF FOOD DURING HOT WEATHER.

Fruits of all kinds should be kept in a cool, dark place and have frequent visits looking them over carefully to remove all ripe fruit. Berries should always be poured out on shallow plates or platters. Their own weight crushes and spoils them. Watermelon, too large for the ice chest, may be wrapped in wet sack and left in a window or door, with frequent wettings the melon ends. A portion to be served may be cut and placed near the ice for immediate use. The cut side placed on a plate will keep it from spoiling so soon. Lemons keep well in a dish of water; frequent changing of water and removing them before they begin to show decay will save waste.

Vegetables containing sugar, as beets and corn, lose their flavor very quickly, the sugar causing fermentation, and no soaking in water will ever restore the flavor. Corn at its best should be served within an hour after it has been pulled from the stalk.

Green vegetables may be washed and dropped into a cheesecloth bag and kept crisp; they should never be soaked in salt water, as it will ruin them.

Cucumbers, crisp and delicious if properly treated, become like sole leather after a soaking in salt water, often causing colic and in some cases death.

It must be remembered that the foods rich in nitrogen, such as milk, its products, meat, eggs and fish, decompose easily under the influence of heat and moisture, and most of these foods then become, not food, but deadly poisons, causing illness that is often fatal.

Meat to be kept should be brushed with an equal portion of olive oil and vinegar, or melted butter and vinegar will do. This will protect the meat from bacteria and make it more tender and palatable.

In mutton or lamb, the marrow fat, as well as the thin membranes, should be removed if the meat is to be kept at all, as those portions decay very quickly.

Parshall, N. D., Nov. 1.—The North Dakota brand of alcohol long has been known to contain alligators, dinosaurs and other reptilian monsters, but it is only recently that gasoline has been found to be similarly cursed. Opening his gasoline tank, he found six large, slimy, badly decomposed lizards.

As the car drew abreast of the horse, the animal wheeled and lashed out with both hoofs, garnering one rear wheel and putting the steering gear out of commission. Mr. Krause was seriously shaken up, but no permanently injured.

HEAVY CASH BUSINESS

Last month, with all its ups and downs, was the biggest month in volume of business in our history.

Many thought that when we went to a cash basis, sales would fall off. We have not found it so. We thank our patrons, indeed, for this support and will lead, as usual in high quality goods, low prices and efficient service.

We see that a number of our most esteemed competitors have followed our example and gone to the cash plan. We heartily approve of this wise course and congratulate their customers upon this honest, sensible way of doing business.

Four weeks ago we asked our readers to watch these columns as something real was to be said. We think you will agree that something has happened in the plan of doing business. But watch closer than ever as the quotations of prices will pay you in dollars and cents to be on the alert.

Thanking you, again, for your loyal support we pledge you more efficient service than ever.

NEW VERSES FOR "AMERICA."

"America" is a song we all love.

From our earliest days in school we have been taught to sing it. It is part of our youth's memories. The fact that we share its tune with the British, who use it for "God Save the King," has never bothered us.

And that makes very apropos a suggestion recently advanced by Lord Aberdeen. He says in Canada it is now the fashion to add another set of verses to the English anthem, and points out this same set might well be added to our "America."

The verses express the hopes of all of us, and might well be committed to memory and sung the next time "America" is announced in any patriotic American assembly:

"God bless our splendid men.
Send them safe home again.
God save our men!
Happy and glorious,
Dauntless and chivalrous,
Winners of freedom,
God save our men!"

CABBAGES AND KINGS.

In that old classic of childhood, "Alice in Wonderland," the walrus says the time has come "to speak of many things; of shoes and ships and sealing wax and cabbages and kings." Now this may always have seemed nonsense to you, but the walrus wasn't so crazy when he hooked up cabbages and kings.

In this war, we may well say that American cabbages and Teuton kings are involved.

If we don't want the Teuton kings to bring the war to our own shores we must look to the cabbages, that is to say, the American food supply, rapidly becoming the food supply of our allies.

The time was when in jocular vein we reserved our cabbages and eggs and other edibles for hurling at unpopular actors. Today we are saving them to hurl across the Atlantic at certain unpopular actors on Teutonic thrones.

We have to fight them and their armies with soldiers, with shells, with dollars and with food. If we are wasteful, indifferent, we make harder the task not only of keeping an ample supply of food for ourselves, but of shipping some of the necessities of life to England and France, bravely and gallantly holding the line on the western front.

That is why national food pledge week, from Oct. 28 to Nov. 4 is so important. It is tantamount to pledging ourselves to help win the war.

FEEDING THEM FABLES.

"The Americans have been so high-handed and brutal with French owners of property over which the proposed lines linking the American front with the seaports would pass, that American engineers have been forced to have armed guardians to protect them, and the inhabitants are on the verge of open revolt."

Of course this message, printed in Germany and sent by radio to the neutral countries of Europe, was of Prussian origin. Unable any longer to lie completely about Uncle Sam's ability to send troops over to France, the Prussian governing powers are now feeding their credulous subjects fables. Just what they hope to accomplish it is hard to figure.

The American character is well known throughout the world. The American soldier or sailor has never rendered himself obnoxious to any friendly people. He has always made friends wherever he went, by his good behavior, his kindness, his quality of being a good fellow. It was so in Cuba. It was so in the Philippines. It is so in France.

Every picture that has come back, every letter from Pershing's men "over there" has shown our soldiers surrounded by smiling French women and children, glad the Yanks have come to resist the Hun's onslaughts. And this is quite in accord with Pershing's orders to his men to remember they were visitors in the house of France.

With these facts in mind one is inclined to laugh at the German stupidity. To put out such yarns merely serves to call the attention, both of Germans and neutrals, to the proved cases of Prussian maltreatment of natives. It is one of the hideous counts in the indictment civilization has brought against Germany.

Wherever a German army is to be found on foreign soil, there are also to be found helpless men, women and children who have suffered from Prussian brutality. The reverence due to old age, the deference due to women, the tenderness due to innocent childhood—all these things that mark the American soldier boy, seem to have been left out of the composition of the brutes who wear the Kaiser's uniform. Everything goes.

The German table d'hôte has put out a perfect picture of conditions in France—only it is the Huns, whom the French populace bitterly hate.

MONSTROUS MOCKERY.

Wilhelm of Hohenzollern since the war began has been guilty of many palpable lies, many callous brutalities, but now he adds a monstrous mockery of words and intentions. The wonder is he can keep a straight face in pronouncing them.

One of the main features of his recent trip to Turkey was a great state banquet at which he said to the sultan:

"I gather that the Turkish army and people have the same resolute confidence as have the German army and people, to continue the war to a happy conclusion."

The Kaiser knew, and the unhappy sultan knew, Turkey was a mere cat-paw in the hands of the Prussians and would not dare withdraw from the war. With German officers in command of the most important Turkish troops, with German diplomats carefully watching every move in Constantinople, with German-commanded war vessels able to train their guns upon the capital any time there is little "resolute confidence" upon the part of the Turkish ruler and Turkish people.

Nor is there any special delight in an alliance which means short commons for the Turkish people, while they see a considerable portion of their waning food supplies shipped northward to feed German mouths.

But the best was yet to come. In all apparent seriousness the Kaiser gave vent to this exquisite gem:

"In peace time our peoples will be welded more firmly in the peaceful work of Kultur."

This is bound to cause endless wonder and conjecture. During the war the Kaiser and the sultan have been very much alike in one thing—the deliberate attempt to wipe out the little nations. What the Kaiser did to Belgium, to Serbia, to Poland, to Rumania, the sultan did to the Armenians, to the Syrians and to the enterprising Greeks scattered in the seacoast cities of Asia Minor. This was a union of rulers in war time Kultur, according to Prussian ethics.

The question that occurs to most minds is what the Kaiser meant by his "peace time Kultur." The favorite occupation of the sultan in peace times is to observe the greatest indulgence toward those of his subjects who murder the Armenian and Syrian Christians. Is it possible that when the war is over the Kaiser intends to join him in this pleasing, if bloody, occupation—and all in the sacred name of Kultur?

When the haughty emperor of Germany has to descend to this kind of slavering praise of the Mohammedan Turk his fortunes are indeed beginning to ebb.

Again it has been proven there is no significance in names. Professor J. M. Cattell, New York pacifist "fired" from Columbia university, lived at Ft. Defiance, near the village of Garrison, and a neighbor named Gunn dwelt near.

It looks as if still another unfortunate would have to take a chance at being chancellor of the German government.

Lipp of the Emerson school of oratory, who addressed two general sessions of the association at the auditorium Wednesday afternoon and evening, this morning spoke before the English section. The parent-teacher section is having some very interesting sessions, featured by addresses from C. E. Tingley of Grand Forks, in charge of Baptist field missions in North Dakota, who has had wide experience with parent-teacher clubs and is an entertaining and brilliant speaker; Dr. Gillette, professor of sociology at the University of North Dakota, who has made a special study of community life, upon which he is the author of several textbooks; Miss Leigh, supervisor of music at Grand Forks, whose hobby is community singing; and Miss M. Bearice Johnston, county superintendent, and president of the state association, presiding. E. R. Edwards, Eleanor M. Longmire presides over this section.

The attendance was unusually good. Two days' programs were concentrated in one, and every subject was freely discussed. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Glen McLellan, agricultural college; vice president, Mrs. E. R. Edwards, Jamestown; secretary-treasurer, Superintendent Moe of Hillsboro.

Community singing featured the session. Secretary McLellan came provided with a large amount of literature on child welfare for distribution. It is the aim of the league to cooperate with the state department of education in the publication of a handbook for the use of the state in parent-teacher organizations.

Minot Normal Folk Here.

The Minot normal has an excellent representation here for the convention. H. C. Fish, former curator of the state historical museum, leads the discussion on higher learning and the war before the higher and professional education. Miss Hulda Winsted, librarian and instructor in the geography department, has a paper on "The Modern Viewpoint in Teaching Geography." Mrs. Amy Simpson, a paper on "Cooperation of the Supervisor and the Private Teacher in the Musical Development of the Community." Miss Julia G. McDonough yesterday read a paper before the English section on "An Essential in the Teaching of English." Miss Eleanor Bryson leads the round table discussion on "The Rural Phase of the Domestic Science Problem." and H. W. Collins gives a five-minute talk in the manual training department on "How I Start My Courses and Why."

Commended on Showing.

The Bismarck high school is being commended on the showing it made yesterday in the musical numbers preceding the general session at the Auditorium. The boys' and girls' glee clubs and a mixed quartet all showed evidence of careful training and proper grouping. Miss Lancelotti Steele, instructor in music, directed, and the high school orchestra accompanied the numbers. The girls' chorus was exceptionally good, and all the numbers drew repeated encores. In view of the fact that it is very early in the season and that this is the first appearance of the young people in public, their performance is regarded as exceptional.

History and Civics.

The sessions of the history, civics and social science division of the N. D. E. A. proved of especial interest. Wednesday morning was occupied with a series of special papers, discussed by Mrs. Crabtree of Ellendale spoke on the Dickey county pageant in which she was a prominent factor. She made a plea to the teachers to make history live and real. She was followed by Miss Dewey of the Valley City normal, who, while studying in the "School of Players" in New Hampshire helped to write, at the request of the recreation department of the United States department of education, a pageant for general use. Copies of the scenarios for this pageant, which is to be reproduced at the various training camps, may be procured from Miss Dewey.

Dr. Finney's paper on the teaching of social science in the high schools called for an animated discussion, and a resolution embodying the conclusions of this division, favoring the teaching of social science, drawn up by a committee consisting of President Black of Ellendale, Supt. P. S. Berg of the Dickinson public schools, and Dr. Finney, was adopted at this morning's session.

Constitutional Convention.

Pres. Black, whose work on the constitutional convention is well known, gave a discussion of the deliberations of that body which was timely and informing. The symposium under the direction of Miss Hazel Nielson of Fargo took up the discussion of the practical problems of history and civics teaching. The real purpose of history teaching, the practical methods, the strong features of a desirable text, and the correlation of grade school, high school and collegiate instruction, the last of which points was referred to the committee on history and social science teaching. George Will of Bismarck gave an excellent talk which was well received.

A roster was started with the names of all teachers present to become eventually a "Who's Who" of the instructors of North Dakota.

Officers elected for the ensuing year by this division are: President, Walter N. Stearns, Fargo; vice president, A. M. Tolftson, Garrison; secretary-treasurer, Miss Hazel Nielson, Fargo.

Manual Training.

FANNIE C. AMIDON.
Department of Public School Music, Valley City State Normal.

its first meeting at the high school building Wednesday morning. J. W. Waburn of Valley City presiding, and with Miss Harriet Stone of LaMoure as secretary. Papers were presented by O. B. Badger of Fargo, "The Educational Value of My Shop Course," and A. E. Field of Valley City, "Re-placing Manual Training in Our City School Shops with Mechanical Science." Both were interesting and followed by spirited discussion. The election of officers resulted in the choice of A. E. Field of Valley City to be president and R. H. Neff of Bismarck to be secretary-treasurer for the ensuing year.

The association of teachers and of officers of agricultural schools and departments met at the high school Wednesday morning with President A. L. Schafer of Carrington in the chair. Thomas Cooper of the extension department of the Agricultural college gave an interesting talk on the relation of his work to the agricultural interests of the school and community, advising that the extension department is taking up general agriculture, marketing and rural credits, animal diseases, plant diseases, poultry husbandry, live stock, farm management, boys' and girls' clubs and grain grading. He advised that ten women leaders in home economics are serving the state and that the United States department of agriculture is co-operating with the state department.

Prof. D. W. Galehouse of Fargo talked on organization and cooperation, emphasizing the importance of interesting boys and girls. Westgate gave a talk full of good suggestions helpful and sincere, displaying a thorough knowledge of the problems and the aims of agricultural training.

Principals Graded Schools.

The principals of graded, consolidated and the class high schools all so met in the high school building Carl Gilbertson of Lignite, presiding. Consolidation was the principal subject for discussion, leaders for and against being County Superintendent Riley of Cass county, State Inspector Edward Erickson of Bismarck and Prof. Anderson of many valuable points were brought out.

Music Teachers.

The music teachers' section met Wednesday morning in the Presbyterian church chapel. President A. J. Stephens of Fargo presiding. The attendance was not large, but everyone was interested and enthusiastic. Excellent papers were presented by Clair Gidding of Mandan; Dean Eugene Woodhams of Valley City; W. W. Norton and Mrs. Amy Simpson of Minot.

Domestic Science.

The teachers of domestic science met in the high school building with Miss Jensen, the president, in the chair. Miss Groenwald spoke of the needs of the body, and advocated food in preference to medicine. She advocated dietetics in connection with other subjects in the school, and emphasized the demand for practical knowledge and skill in the home, as much as in the shop and the office.

HOME ECONOMICS SECTION.

Topic—Rural Phase of Domestic Science Problem.

Round Table Conference—Leader, Miss Eleanor Bryson, Minot Normal. Among other important points on this leading question, she reminded her audience of the immediate need of making living conditions for rural teachers attractive. Higher salaries, help, but no a solution. Granting the need of changed living standards, she exhorted the teachers to take advantage of the golden opportunity, the times demand to teach right living in the rural home.

She advocated the exhibit as an important means of acquainting the community of what is possible in the work—but stressed the need of more of the intensely practical in those exhibits—that the work should show a well darned sock rather than the betrimmed bath towel or dust cloth; and the carefully baked bread and other wholesome food rather than an array of pastry and cakes.

Home economics teaches more than cooking and sewing. It is like the Scotchman's haggis—has a little bit of everything—in reality all phases of human life—from its conception to its close.

The aim should be to teach both boys and girls home making, e. g. the are of the home both out and in; keeping of simple accounts; the ordinary laws of personal hygiene; the term theory of disease; the necessity of and the importance of clean milk and an unpolluted water supply. Better to omit some of the dead arithmetic phases and teach the relative cost of foods in proportion to their real food values, with a consideration of such situations as why oatmeal should cost more in a round package than in a square one—or why cornmeal should cost more in a package than in a sack.

She advocated credit for home work—to help make it a dignified labor rather than a drudgery. The hot-lunch another important means of linking the home and the school. With the equipment for such to be a model for such work rather than a makeshift, so strongly recommended by many reformers. Miss Bryson sees no reason why the rural communities should be victims of "makeshifts" in this line any more than in any other line of instruction. There more than anywhere it is possible to have good work-model for a kitchen equipment—rather than the grocery box so much lauded.

Enthusiastic meeting—lively discussion of the intensely timely and practical solutions of stock fallacies in the "theories" often perpetrated by the innocent but well meaning layman.

WELCOME TO THE FOLD.

The Dodgen Journal made its appearance on our table last week and is a fine, healthy looking youngster. The publisher is Fred F. Jeffers, who also publishes the Benedict Banner. The Journal merits long life and prosperity.

GERMAN-AMERICANS.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Among the names of enlisted men cited for gallantry aboard the United States destroyer Cassin we find:

Wachbrodt, Edg. Ochi, Alfred Hoffman, George Klein, George Miller, Hans Leonard, E. F. Miller, Otto.

Among the soldiers drowned when a German U-boat sank the United States transport Antilles were: Ehrhardt, Anton Kleber, Otto Echel, E. L. Faust, William Egert, Ernest Miller, Otto.

It is only a few weeks since we heard the cry, "Germans cannot fight Germans," but it is only a few days since a German-American wrote, "Perhaps the brightest page in the history of this war for freedom and democracy will be devoted to the heroism of German-Americans." Who doubts it now?

NORTH DAKOTA LIGNITE.

It will be strange if the fuel conditions which prevail this year do not result in a more general and systematic effort than has yet been made to utilize the lignite coal of North Dakota. The authorities have estimated that underlying the soil of western North Dakota there is sufficient fuel to last the United States for something like a thousand years at its present rate of consumption. That estimate may be discounted very liberally and still there will remain an enormous supply of valuable fuel which is not more than about 200 miles distant from the most eastern counties of the state.

The fuel problem of the northwest is, however, by no means solved by the mere presence of this coal. The coal is there, but there are difficulties attending its use which have hitherto made it impossible to sell native lignite in competition with eastern coal except within a very short distance of the mine. Lignite is low in its heat content. Freshly mined it contains a large percentage of water. Therefore, it is high in per heat unit, but it is high in water. The water is allowed to evaporate, thus reducing transportation cost, the coal stacks and crumbles almost to dust. Because of the presence of a high percentage of volatile gases, this slackening process is continued during combustion. The result is the ejection of drafts while the fire is left undisturbed, and the escape of unburned coal through the grates when it is shaken.

All of these conditions have contributed to limit the use of lignite to a small field near the point of origin. The researches of Dean Babcock of the University School of Mines have resulted in the application of methods which overcome most of these difficulties. In the briquetting plant which he has devised lignite is dried, powdered, heated until the more volatile gases are driven off by means of the addition of a suitable binder and compression under heat it is formed into briquettes which compare favorably with good grades of anthracite.

The experience this year ought to direct public attention forcibly to this subject. Hereafter we are likely to understand somewhat clearly that the fuel problem is not confined to the price of coal, but that it is intimately related to the supply. In North Dakota we have a supply which, for the purposes of many generations, is unlimited. The utilization of this local supply will solve the fuel problem for us; it will keep within the state, for the promotion of local enterprises, millions of dollars of capital which now go east; and it will result in the building up of valuable coal industries in the manufacture of the numerous by-products incidental to the briquetting of coal and from the utilization for the generation of electric current of the gases which are liberated during the process.—Grand Forks Herald.

WHO DID?

Some men were made to be soldiers; The Irish were made to be cops; Saurkraut was made for the Germans; Spaghettif was made for the Jews.

Fish were made to drink water; Hums were made to drink booze; Banks were made to make money—Money was made for the Jews.

Everything was made for something—Everything excepting a miser; God made Wilson for president, But who in hell—made the Kaiser? —By a German American.

FORESTAL WINTER TROUBLES.

Mr. C. B. Whittey, Head of the Lahr Motor Sales Co. Service Department Gives Good Advice.

"Cold weather cuts down the efficiency of the electric starting and lighting system, especially the battery. In winter most owners drive in the city where the streets are congested, driving is slow and many stops are made. Lights are used much more in winter than in summer, for the days are short and the nights long, quite the reverse of summer conditions. The trouble in winter driving is that there is not the same opportunity to get car speed enough to do as much charging as in summer. It is up to each owner to see that the electrical energy in the storage battery is conserved. It is foolish for one to press the starting button and hold it down for two or three minutes with the engine so cold that gasoline cannot get into the tops of the cylinders.

When you hold the starter button down for two or three minutes before the engine starts, you take from the battery energy enough requiring an hour or more driving of the car with the lights on, before the battery will again be in the shape it was before the engine was started. Those who prefer to hold down the starter pedal three or four minutes instead of priming the engine, will sooner or later come to grief, for no battery will stand up under such punishment.

Discharging Battery.

There is more danger of discharging the battery in winter than in summer. To take a specific case: Suppose a man drives his car to work every day. If he allows the starter motor to turn over for two minutes before the engine starts in the morning, he has taken enough current from the battery to necessitate the car being driven about 15 or 16 miles per hour for 55 minutes to replace the charge. He uses his lights going home, consuming about half the charging current. The same thing takes place the next and succeeding days and each day the battery is being sapped of its life. Finally it goes dead and the owner wonders why. Never use the starter motor for more than half a minute. Provide some means for easy starting; choke the carburetor; heat the manifold, do something so the engine will start in half a minute or so.

Putting the electrical system in shape for the winter means scrutinizing the wiring for short-circuits, replacing with lamps of smaller voltage, smoothing the commutator and brushes of generator, and, finally, keeping the battery from freezing and in a charged state.

There are more batteries ruined by lack of care than any other cause.

If you are not going to use your car during cold weather by all means place it in storage with a service station that will take the proper care of it. A battery must be continually charging and discharging in order not to deteriorate—a battery stored in your basement will probably be useless by spring.

APPLES FOR HEALTH.

Good old apple time is here again! King Jonathan is once more welcomed by Bismarck fruit lovers. We are going to depend more than ever this year on the big, fine fruit from the state of Washington. While New York and the middle west produced a much smaller crop—especially New York with a crop of about 15 per cent normal—Washington orchards yielded even more than their usual share of America's most popular fruit. Yakima valley was the most fortunate of the western fine fruit sections—their crop raising eight per cent year, and of an especially fine quality.

With Mr. Hoover, and the government, urging us to eat more fruit, local dealers are anticipating a larger demand for apples than ever before. Educational campaigns are to be conducted, to bring the healthfulness of the apple before us. The Yakima valley Fruit Growers association, a co-operative organization of growers in the Yakima valley of Washington, are launching here the largest and most far reaching educational plan on their "Big Y" brand of apples ever attempted in the apple industry. Each year we are consuming more of these fine apples from the Yakima valley. Last week a trainload of the "Big Y" brand arrived to supply the local demand for "Big Y" apples in this vicinity.

Few people really know what they are eating when they eat an apple. You are eating, among other things, gallic acid, one of the most necessary elements in human economy. You are eating sugar in the most assimilable form, combined carbon, hydrogen and oxygen caught and imprisoned from the sunshine. You are eating a gum allied to the "fragrant medicinal gums of Arabia." You are eating phosphorus in the only form in which it is available as the source of all brain and nerve energy. In addition to all these, you are drinking the purest water and eating the most healthful and desirable fiber for the required roughness in food elements. The acids of apple diminish the acidity of the stomach and prevent and cure dyspepsia. They drive out the obnoxious matters that cause skin eruptions and thus are nature's most glorious complexion makers. They neutralize in the blood the deleterious elements that poison the brain and make it sluggish. The contained phosphorus is not only greater than in any other form of food, but it is presented in a shape for immediate use by the brain and nerves, where it may flash into great thoughts and great deeds. The ancients assigned the apple as the food for the gods, and its juices the ambrosial nectar to which they resorted to renew their youth. Men are the gods of today, and the apple is their royal food, the magic renewer of youth. Eat a rich, ripe apple every day and you have disarmed all diseases of half their terror.

At the present time, Jonathans are the chief variety of "Big Y" apples for immediate use. A little later will come the Rome Beauty, the Spitzenburg, Stayman, Winesap, Yellow Newtown and Arkansas Black. The late varieties are particularly fine "bak-

SOCIETY

Thursday Musical Club Gives Splendid Interpretation of Bohemian Girl

The presentation of a symposium of Balfe's "Bohemian Girl" last evening in the Auditorium preceding the reading from David Copperfield by Walter B. Tripp, fulfilled every expectation. The work of the club was very commendable, especially on the choruses, which were sung with spirit and artistic finish. The stage settings, although not elaborate, were most effective and gave a pleasing background for the gypsy scenes. The choruses were directed by Mrs. A. G. Jacobson, president of the club, and formerly supervisor of music in the local public schools. Mr. Marquis was the general director and took the role of the Gypsy Chief.

Mrs. H. H. Steele sang the role of Arline, daughter of Count Arnelheim, and the sweetheart of Thaddeus, a Polish exile, and gave as her principal number, "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Warble Halls." Mr. Reynolds of Madan sang the role of Thaddeus, giving as his big number, "Then You'll Remember Me." Mrs. Arthur Bolster sang the role of the Gypsy Queen, giving a pleasing interpretation of "Gipsy Forever Past." One of the most effective parts was the trio "Through the World I Would Fly," sung by Mrs. Steele, Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Marquis. George Humphreys sang the beautiful baritone solo, "The Heart Bow'd Down." Little Miss Helen Steele added considerable to the production by her dancing. Much credit is due to Mr. Marquis and Mrs. Jacobson, directors. This evening the club will give a recital presenting Mrs. J. A. Graham, Mrs. Bolster, Mr. Marquis and Mrs. Steele, vocalists; Mrs. Bauer, pianist, and Mr. McDonald, violinist. They will be assisted by Miss Ruth Arnold of Chicago, who will give an exhibition of interpretative dancing. The lecture by Dr. Strayer will follow the program.

Indians Princess to Charm Bismarckers Friday Evening With Cadman's Songs

American history has revealed the interesting lives of two Indian women, Pocahontas and Sakakawea, noted for their bravery, but it was left for the twentieth century to produce an artist who has charmed American audiences from coast to coast. Princess Tsianina, daughter of one of the last chiefs of the Creeks in Oklahoma, will appear in concert here with Charles Wakefield Cadman Friday evening in the Auditorium, interpreting the Cadman songs, which are built around the Indian folklore and music. While in the city she will visit the state in-

Educators Gather at Festive Boards To Renew Old Friendships; Yells Given

Reunions and alumni luncheons marked the social activities of the educators of the state gathered here to attend the N. D. E. A. meeting. In three different parts of the Grand Pacific hotel reunions of the Minot Normal, Ellendale Normal and the University of Wisconsin were held at noon today. Educators from all parts of the state gathered around the festive boards to renew old friendships formed during the college days. Splendid toasts, accompanied with the college yells, featured. The Carlton college of Northfield, alumni held its reunion luncheon in the McCabe church dining room.

Minot Normal.

Covers were laid for 29 at the second annual luncheon given by the Minot Normal followers. The table was centered with a cluster of yellow chrysanthemums. Hon. J. M. Devine of the state industrial school, Mandan, presided as toastmaster, and toasts were responded to by L. A. White on "Embyro," President Lewis Crawford on "The Caterpillar," Dr. A. G. Steele, acting president of the M. S. N. S. on "The Chrysalis" and Miss Adele Steinhilber of the class of 1916 on "The Moth." The guest list included:

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Devine; Mandan; President Lewis F. Crawford; Sentinel Butte; Miss Beale Johnson; Mrs. Amy Simpson; Minot; Miss Eleanor Bryson; Minot; Dr. A. G. Steele; Miss Bernice Southey, Garrison; The Misses McDonald, Turtle Lake; Miss Adele Steinhilber, Wilton; Miss Olga Barke, Wilton; Mr. Goddard, Crosby; Mr. J. H. Chandler of the North Dakota university on President Van Hise; E. P. Crain of Valley City on "Ethical Development of the Tadpole," B. C. E. Tighe, Fargo, on "Wisconsin Spirit" and C. F. Bolt of Bismarck on "Reminiscences." The following officers were elected: President, Helen McCumber,

WHITE VELVET MAKES RICH EVENING GOWN

New York-Velvets, soft, slinky chiton velvets, are tremendous favorites for evening wear even with debutantes, and this handsome gown of white velvet goes far to explain their popularity. The skirt is full and plain, its only concession to fashion being the softly looped bustle of material at the back.

The bodice is draped in a becoming surplice, and outlined with a cord.

McKENZIE AND DAIRY LUNCH TO CONSERVE

Complying with the request of Food Administrator E. F. Ladd, the Hotel McKenzie and the Patterson dairy lunch, beginning next Tuesday, will observe a meatless and wheatless day each week, announced E. G. Patterson, the proprietor, today. Patrons will not suffer, stated Mr. Patterson, as the McKenzie and dairy lunch chefs have prepared menus which will cause people to wonder why they were considered meat and wheat essential of the daily diet.

The meatless-wheatless regime will continue, announced Mr. Patterson, until Dr. Ladd finds no further necessity exists.

FORMER BISMARCK GIRL. PASSES AWAY IN N. Y.

Mrs. Mary Hancock Otis Dies in Home of Sister This Morning.

Word was received today by Mrs. John Homan of Fourth street, of the death of her cousin, Mrs. Mary Hancock Otis, aged 51, wife of O. S. Otis of Miles City, Mont. This morning in the home of her sister, Mrs. Eugene Combs of Rockville Center, N. Y., where she had been since last August. She had been ill for over four years and her death was not unexpected.

Mrs. Otis was well and favorably known in this city where she spent her girlhood days. She came to this city to make her home with her aunt, Mrs. Mary Dolan of First street, when out eight years old and resided here until her marriage to Mr. Otis four years ago. Her winning personality won for her a large circle of friends in this city who mourn her untimely death. She was a member of St. Mary's pro-cathedral.

Mr. Otis is expected to pass through this city this evening en route east. No arrangements for the funeral have been made.

KINTYRE

Miss Hart and Miss Parizek visited in Wishek over Sunday.

Mrs. Hadden was ill the first of the week and Mrs. Robt. Elson taught her room. Mrs. Hadden taught the primary room Monday during Miss Parizek's absence.

Mrs. J. J. Ryan and children of Bismarck visited over Sunday with her mother, Mrs. L. H. Siro.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Stoll Saturday afternoon, Nov. 13. At this meeting the report of the delegate to the state convention will be given and other business will be transacted. All members are requested to be present and everyone is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Dan Cupid has been busy around here—Minnie Nelson and Martin Stangler were married last Tuesday and Annie Hanson and Carl Kleppe were married Saturday.

The Halloween program for the benefit of the school will be held Nov. 3—Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mitzel had the heart rending experience of waking up one morning and finding their baby dead in bed. The little one was all right about 2 o'clock a. m. when his mother got up and gave it a bottle of milk. The sympathy of the whole community is extended to the bereaved parents.

AIR CHAMPION AND BRIDE WALK UNDER CROSSED SWORDS

Under the crossed swords of his fellow officers Major Bishop, Canadian airman, who has destroyed 47 German planes, and his bride left the Toronto church where they were married. By making a new air distinction record Bishop had earned a furlough with Dan Cupid. Mrs. Bishop was Miss Margaret Burden, niece of a department store magnate.

and took out a load of lumber and storm sash for Fort Yates parties.

Anton Engel visited McLaughlin on business last Thursday.

J. R. Kronberger, one of our prosperous farmers, is busy hauling out lumber this week for a new four room cottage to be built on his place, west of town.

Mr. John Frank, of Mount City, S. Dak., is having a house built on his farm southwest of town, the work being done by Geo. Stebbes, also of Mount City. Mr. Frank has been recently purchased this land and will move here with his family as soon as his buildings are completed.

Judge McBee, Jim Hokanson and Banker Jacobson of Fort Yates spent a few hours in the coming metropolis of Sioux County last Thursday. Banker Jacobson is at the head of the Liberty loan bond sales for this county, which was the purpose of his visit here, and did not find any slackers among our citizens.

The Citizens State bank heads the list of Liberty bond holders in this vicinity, having subscribed $1,000. The following have each purchased a $50 bond: Mrs. A. W. Merchant, Mrs. O. E. Langheim, H. L. Smead, C. C. Marsh and Andrew Lind.

Reports from over the state show that North Dakota has over-subscribed its six million allotment of Liberty bonds by about four million dollars. We believe this is a record few states will beat. Who says North Dakota isn't patriotic?

County Surveyor J. W. Farmer returned Saturday from Fort Snelling. Mr. Farmer has been in training at the officers' training camp there for the past two months.

The new elevator being built here for Winter, Truesdell, Ames Co., of Minneapolis, is nearing completion. The strong winds the past week have kept the crew from working on the capola steady, but it is all enclosed now and in a very short time will be in running order. The local manager is expected some time this week.

Three cars of flax have been shipped from Selfridge this far this season. H. Erie, Mat. Canfield and E. F. York each having shipped one car. There are still thousands of bushels threshed and lying in granaries awaiting the completion of the elevator. There will also be hundreds of tons of has shipped out of here this winter, and a depot agent is badly needed here. This is a matter that should be taken up with the railroad company immediately, and if we cannot get results, probably the railroad commissioners can.

BOMB FRAZIER SET FOR HANNA BOARD REACTS

Governor's Regents Convene to Find no Funds Available for Transportation

AMICABLE SESSION MARKS

BODY'S FIRST CONCLAVE

Immediately following the close of the last legislative session, when the general appropriation bill came to Governor Frazier for his signature, he passed from it an item of $7,000 for traveling expenses of members of the state board of regents. The governor had just failed in an effort to oust the Hanna board, and he did not feel friendly toward it. He announced that his veto was in the interests of economy. Later the Hanna board of regents asked the emergency commission, of which Governor Frazier is chairman, to transfer from an unexpended balance in the regents' per diem fund to their traveling fund some $2,000. This the board declined to do. October 8, immediately after Governor Frazier acquired control of the board, through a decision of the supreme court seating two of his appointees, a third member, Rev. C. J. Vermilya of Valley City, having already been named to succeed Col. Frank White, resigned, the governor assembled his emergency commission and voted to transfer $3,000 in order that his regents might have traveling expenses. This week the state treasurer, John Steen, was notified of the emergency commission's action and requested by Secretary of State Hall to make the transfer. The treasurer declined to do so on the ground that such a transfer would clearly be illegal, and Governor Frazier's three members of the board of regents are hoisted by the petard which the governor set for the old Hanna board.

Immediately after the appointment by Governor Frazier of a board of regents of his own, last winter, he voted each of these five men a 2,000-mile railway ticket. Orders for these tickets were presented to State Treasurer Steen, and he declined to honor them, on the ground that the Frazier appointees, to all intents and purposes, were still private citizens, with no right to travel at state expense. As to three of these appointees, the supreme court sustained the state treasurer, but it seated two of them when the terms of Scow and Power expired. The third member was seated through the vacancy caused by former Governor White's resignation, but they are still without transportation, and the state treasurer is standing pat.

ency commission, wrote the state treasurer that the commission's action in voting to transfer this fund was due to an error, and that the attorney general advised such transfer could not be made. The first session of the board of regents, as newly constituted was held Tuesday afternoon, with complete harmony prevailing. The entire afternoon was given over to Dean E. J. Labcock, acting president of the University of North Dakota, who brought up routine matters. Three o'clock Thursday afternoon was set for consideration of a new president for the University, to succeed Dr. F. L. McVey, now president of the University of Kentucky. This morning President Ladd of the agricultural college and President McFarland of the Valley City normal appeared before the board, and this afternoon President Hilyer of Mayville normal and Acting President Steele of Minot normal were heard.

DEFENSE LEAGUE SUGGEST PLANKS FOR WAR PROGRAM

New York, Nov. 1.—A platform of eight planks designed as a constructive program for the prosecution of the war to a definite victory has been adopted by the American Defense Society, it was announced today and will be submitted for discussion and approval to the chambers of commerce throughout the country and to the chamber of commerce of the United States at Washington. The purpose of the committee of the American Defense Society which drew up the program is announced to be to solidify the nation in the prosecution of the war. The proposals advocated by the society in its war platform are:

That the administration at Washington be urged to send an overwhelming force to France.

To intern alien enemies and enemy sympathizers whose conduct imperils or impedes the war.

To forbid the publication of newspapers and magazines in the German language during the war.

That congress be asked at its next session to declare that a state of war exists with Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey; to expel any disloyal members and to enact a law prohibiting the issuance of new securities except by federal license.

It is recommended to "various authorities" that they forbid the compulsory study of German in the public schools.

In its preamble to the platform, the American Defense Society asserts that it is "justified at various steps taken by the administration, congress and throughout the nation in matters bearing on the war against Germany and her allies, and desiring that the war be prosecuted to definite victory, and the nation solidified to that end, urges the foregoing steps."

Washburn to Celebrate It's Thirty-Fourth Birthday by Big Home Coming Exercise

(By Staff Correspondent.) Washburn, N. D., Nov. 1.—The thirty-fourth birthday celebration of McLean county will be held at Washburn Saturday, when pioneer settlers from different sections in the west will congregate and engage in exercises appropriate for the occasion. John Satterlund of Washburn, who was the first representative from this district to the territorial legislature, and has been a leading spirit in its activities from the beginning to the present, has been in charge of the arrangements and has communicated with former settlers far and wide, inviting them to be present at the celebration.

Reception Committee. Those of the settlers not coming by autos will arrive on the 9:30 a. m. train and there they will be met by the reception committee. This means the whole town of Washburn, for everybody has been designated a member of that committee. The town band will be in attendance and will lead the parade to the new court house, where the ceremonies will begin promptly at 10 o'clock.

In the morning will be dedicatory exercises of the splendid new court house. At the time of the organization of the county in 1883, there was a court house erected at a cost of only $2,400. The new building, complete, cost $35,000. The remarkable feature of this building is that it is being handed over to the county without a single cent indebtedness. A building fund has been quietly secured from the penalties received for the non-payment of taxes in time. In other words, taxpayers who have been prompt with their payments have not contributed anything to the new building. Undoubtedly, in this respect, McLean county stands alone in such a showing. The hand of John Satterlund is revealed in the successful financing.

Dedicatory Address. The dedicatory address will be delivered by Chief Justice A. A. Bruce. He will be followed by short addresses by G. W. Stewart, editor of the Wilton News; M. E. McCurdy, county superintendent of schools, and J. E. Williams, state's attorney. Mr. Williams, who is well known throughout North Dakota as being one time captain of the football team at the North Dakota university, will be in active charge of both morning and afternoon meetings.

Luncheon Served. Luncheon will be served at noon by the Red Cross chapter. The afternoon session will be informal and will be taken up with historical talks. One of the men invited is George P. Flannery, now president of the Northwestern Trust company at St. Paul. He took an active part in the organization of the county, coming from Bismarck to Washburn to give his legal advice as to the organization procedure. It is hoped he will come along with the other early settlers, but some fear is expressed he may not be able to do so. Among those who are expected to arrive and take part in the proceedings are: Major Geo. L. Robinson, Garrison; Gen. E. A. Williams, Bismarck; Chief Justice A. A. Bruce, Bismarck; Judge Geo. P. Flannery, Minneapolis; Gen. Andrew Miller, Bismarck; Judge Jas. Johnson, Minot; Hon. Edward Allen, Bismarck; Hon. J. E. Davis, Goodrich; Hon. G. W. Stewart, Wilton; Hon. R. L. Fraser, Garrison; Hon. Jas. Rice, Mercer; Hon. A. L. Maxwell, Turtle Lake; Hon. W. P. Macomber, Wilton; Hon. O. F. McGraw, Garrison; Hon. John A. Johnston, Farshall; Hon. J. S. Weeder, Glendive; Mont. Hon. Simon Jahr, Wilton; Hon. J. T. McCulloch, city; Hon. J. E. Williams, city; Hon. M. E. McCurdy, city; Senator C. W. McGraw, Bismarck; Senator E. S. Neal, Garrison; Senator Aug. E. Johnson, Washburn, and probably a dozen more.

Don't Omit Three-Cent Stamp On All Letters Mailed Out Tomorrow

Epistles which do not Bear Necessary Postage will be Returned or Consigned to Dead Letter Office. Announces Postmaster—Christmas Parcels Designed for War Zone.

It is very important that post office patrons should not forget the change in postal rates, effective Friday, Nov. 2, as every letter mailed with less than three cents postage thereon will be returned to writer, if known, and if not, it will be held until the necessary postage can be received from addressee, causing unnecessary labor in the postal service, and annoyance and in some instances loss to patrons," said Postmaster Frank Reed, concerning the new law which becomes effective tomorrow.

The changes effective are as follows: All letters and other sealed matter, three cents per ounce or fraction thereof; all postal cards, whether written or printed, two cents each; that is to say one cent in addition to the cost of the card itself until two cent postal cards are received; post cards, if written two cents and if printed one cent.

Drop letters, meaning first class sealed letters addressed within the delivery of the office two cents same as now, but such letters cannot be forwarded beyond the delivery of the office without payment of one cent additional postage; mailing of advertising cards, bearing no writing, circulars, unsealed, and all other third class matter, same as now one cent for two ounces or fraction thereof. The foregoing rates will apply to all mail addressed to foreign countries and foreign territory of the United States, to which the two cent letter postage rate is now applicable, and to the expeditionary forces in France; there will be no change in rates on newspapers, parcel post or matter mailed under permit.

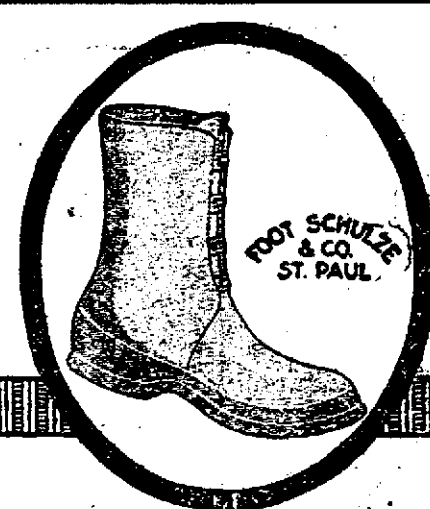

All Christmas parcels mailed to members of the forces in France should be deposited in the post office not later than Nov. 15, and are limited to seven pounds in weight. Such parcels should be enclosed in strong containers so as to withstand rough handling and great pressure, to prevent crushing under the weight of quantities of other mail. The contents of all such parcels must be in-
